VideoCentric holds the largest UK stock of video conferencing hire equipment.

We offer short, medium- and long-term rental of our equipment with no deposit required.

We will spend some time consulting with you to assist in recommending the best systems and technology to hire for your needs.

We can offer a team of expert video engineers to help set up, install, administer and remove at the end of the hire period, so you can be sure that everything will go smoothly and every participant in the room or remotely will feel fully immersed and part of your event.
